

Soviet Vetoes U. S. Plan Aimed at Balkans' Peace

RED MINISTER VOTES AGAINST BORDER GROUP

Johnson Says Russia Abuses U. N. Power; Will Continue Fight

LAKE SUCCESS, July 29 (AP)—Russia invoked the big power veto late today to kill a United States proposal for creation of an 11-nation border commission designed to bring peace to the Balkans.

The United States said the Soviet action created a "grave situation" and obtained immediate adjournment of the United Nations Security Council to allow delegates to consult their home governments.

Herschel V. Johnson, deputy American delegate, labeled the veto the 11th by Russia in U. N. history, a "simple abuse of power."

A few hours later Johnson announced that he would leave for Washington tomorrow morning for talks with Secretary of State Marshall and other members of the State department.

An American delegation spokesman said Johnson had obtained a postponement of tomorrow afternoon's council session until 3 p. m. (Pottstown time) Thursday.

The U. N. charter requires that the big five agree on all major issues so when Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko raised his hand in dissent he killed a resolution approved by nine of the 11 council delegates.

Poland joined Russia in voting against the resolution.

Gromyko attempted to get the

Testimony in Trial Of Wentzel Is Filed With Courts Clerk

By Staff Correspondent

NORRISTOWN July 29 — The way was paved today for argument on motions for a new trial for Gerald C. Wentzel, convicted several months ago in the murder of Mrs. Miriam Green, pretty Pottstown divorcee.

Notes of testimony taken at Wentzel's trial were filed with Clerk of Courts Louis V. Dorp and copies were sent to defense counsel and the district attorney.

The delay in transcription of the notes was attributed to a backlog of work among court stenographers.

With copies of the testimony in their hands it is now possible for the attorneys to prepare their case for argument before the court in September.

Defense counsel has already filed motions for the new trial, claiming that Wentzel, a resident of Kennilworth, was convicted against the weight of the evidence. He is now free under $10,000 bail set by Judge George C. Corson.

Mrs. Green was found strangled in her first floor apartment in Pottstown the past Dec. 9. Wentzel, who was found guilty of second degree murder, was admittedly her "boy friend."

Waynesburg 'Rainmaker' Wins by a Few Drops

WAYNESBURG, July 29 (AP)—Rain fell in Waynesburg tonight to mark the 68th day of the year in 72 years of record keeping.

It apparently was only a slight shower and was felt only on South Morgan street, but its actuality was attested by five witnesses.

Attorney John Daily, not yet back from a trip to Uniontown, had not been present for the victory of his rain prediction. Daily is the fourth in line of Waynesburg "rainmakers" who have kept a record of July 29 precipitation. Last year he lost a bet to Jack Dempsey when rain failed to fall; this year, he won a hat from radio and screen star Bob Hope.

13 Killed as Explosion Shatters Virginia Shop

HARRISBURG, Va., July 29 (AP)—At least thirteen persons were killed today when an explosion ripped a beauty shop apart and blew away a portion of an adjoining jewelry store in the central business section of this Shenandoah valley town.

Bodies of the first six found, and that of another who died of injuries in Rockingham Memorial hospital, were removed to two funeral homes where they were identified as women residents of the surrounding area.

Thirty persons were admitted to the hospital here for injuries and 25 remained for treatment.

As firemen and police joined with other workers—many of them war veterans—in cutting their way through concrete and steel debris, other bodies were pulled from the wreckage and an emergency morgue was set up at the blast scene.

Among the dead was Miss Dorothy Gail Bowman, of Mt. Jackson, whose 20th birthday was today. Miss Bowman, whose parents were giving her a permanent as a birthday present at Pauline's Beauty shop, died of injuries at the hospital.

The beauty shop where the force of the blast hurled two women through the roof, was demolished. The rear of the Rhodes jewelry company and a partition between it and the beauty shop were destroyed, as was a partition between the jewelry firm and another store, an adjoining auto accessory concern.

An urgent call was sent out for all available doctors and registered nurses in the area from the county hospital.

The beauty shop is located only a few blocks downtown from the Rockingham county court house.

The blast scattered jewelry from the Rhodes store in all directions, many of the valuables landing on main street, where they were recovered by police.

At least one man was killed in the blast which shattered windows as far as five blocks away. He was a helper on a coal truck which was delivering fuel to the shop and was killed while working in the basement where the explosion originated.

The owner of the shoe and school, Mrs. Pauline Kline Sullivan, escaped injury when she left the (Continued on Page Seven)

Kaiser Claims FDR Aide Approved Cargo Plane Contract Under Probe

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Henry J. Kaiser testified today that Admiral William D. Leahy, presidential chief of staff, flashed the go-ahead on a multi-million dollar wartime contract for 200-ton cargo planes which never got into the air to thwart the submarine menace.

He also said that he obtained a wartime order for 100 small aircraft carriers by sending a note to President Roosevelt after the Navy turned thumbs down on the contract. Kaiser declared that these baby flat tops "practically won the war."

Kaiser told the Senate war investigating committee that he did not seek White House intervention to obtain the cargo plane contract in 1942, but that War Production Board Chairman Donald M. Nelson asked him to get Leahy's approval.

Leahy was chief of staff to the late President Roosevelt and served in the same capacity to President Truman. The Senate committee is investigating $40,000,000 worth of contracts awarded to Kaiser, West coast industrialist, and Howard Hughes, Hollywood millionaire and plane designer.

Kaiser said he had no recollection of sending a note to Mr. Roosevelt in connection with the contract for huge flying boats, such as the

PRICE OF STEEL IS BOOSTED BY TOP PRODUCERS

U. S., Bethlehem Firms Put $5 Markup to Ton; Cost Seen at 300 Million

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—U. S. Steel corporation and Bethlehem Steel corporation, producers of more than half the nation's steel, completed a cycle of price increases today which industry sources estimated would take more than $300,000,000 out of consumers' pocketbooks.

The companies announced increases averaging $5 a ton for the raw material for hundreds of finished products.

The new quotations probably will be translated at the retail level into higher prices for such things as automobiles, farm equipment, refrigerators.

The first dent in the steel price front was made late the past week by American Rolling Mill company.

Almost every company stated that higher prices were forced by rising costs. Specifically, Irving S. Olds, U. S. Steel corporation chairman, stated after a meeting of "big steel" directors today.

"This increase in steel prices is made necessary by substantially higher employment costs; the mounting costs of raw materials—such as scrap, tin, lead, zinc, copper and palm oil, the increased costs of goods and services which these subsidiaries (U. S. Steel corporation operating subsidiaries) must purchase in order to carry on their business; and the substantially greater cost of replacing worn-out facilities."

As an illustration of recent higher costs, the price of scrap has advanced more than $10 a ton in the past two months.

Olds stated that the $5 a ton average increase did "not include any amount to cover increased costs which will result from the recent coal labor settlement."

"Such additional costs to U. S. Steel are now estimated to amount to more than $30,000,000 a year, or a further cost increase of at least $150 a ton of finished steel," Olds said.

He added that when the effects of the wage boost on the cost of coal production are assessed, "We will have to review the price situation in regard to steel."

"In the meantime, we may be able to effect some economies in steel production," Olds said. "Also, it is hoped that the coal productivity rate will be increased, which might lower the costs of coal for us."

Session Stirs Speculation Of New Atom Bomb Tests

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Admiral H. P. Blandy, the Navy's top expert on atomic bombs, sat in today at a secret top-level Army and Navy conference, leading to unofficial speculation he may direct some new A-bomb tests.

There was no confirmation James V. Forrestal, secretary of the Navy who soon is to take the oath as defense, refused to discuss the purpose with reporters.

Secretary of War Kenneth Royall delayed a trip to Germany in order to attend. Also present was Fleet Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of staff to President Truman.

"Latecomers usually need a lot of repairs. I guess they figure that if they bring in their cars when we are rushed they may beat the inspection. We have to do a thorough job, however, and usually they find they have to wait several days before they can get their cars."

The average inspection station can handle approximately ten cars a day, it was found. Extensive repair jobs hold down this average to as low as six a day, one garage-man said, regardless of the fact that he employed five mechanics.

Many garages handle the cars coming in for inspection in various ways. In some garages, the work is (Continued on Page Six)

Humidity Adds Sting To 86-Degree Heat Here

Wilted shirt collars and cuffs were still in fashion yesterday with a humid 86-degree temperature in the afternoon keeping the citizens hot and bothered.

It could have been worse though. A few Midwest areas yesterday recorded mercury readings at 100 and over. At Needles, Calif., it was 107.

Absence of rain here yesterday knocked St. Swithin's average down to 533 percent, his lowest score since he set about his 40-day task July 15.

CONTRACT GIVEN ON SEWER JOB

Harrison, N. Y., Company To Lay 21,400-Foot Line in West Pottsgrove

A New York state construction company was awarded a contract for the construction of 21,400 feet of sewers in West Pottsgrove township.

The contract was awarded last night when bids were opened at a meeting of the commissioners in West End Five company hall.

The entire board of commissioners, Township Solicitor Victor J. Roberts and Township Engineer George F. Shaner were present when the bids were made public.

The contract was awarded to the company of Harrison, N. Y., got the job, having submitted a low figure of $136,922. The next highest bid was for a figure about $7000 higher, while the highest amount, $158,000, was named by a Philadelphia concern.

Russell P. Vost, secretary of the commission, said that the organization would move in its machines next week and that work would start before Aug. 11.

The sewers will be laid at the rate of 500 to 600 feet a day, he added, and the job is expected to take approximately four months. The lines will be in the center of the township and will serve about 80 percent of the population of the community, with nine miles more of sewers scheduled to be placed next year.

Garagemen Foresee Last-Minute Rush On Car Inspections

Just in case you may have forgotten, tomorrow is the last day for the semi-annual State automobile inspection.

Garagemen yesterday held their heads as they contemplated the number of cars they had lined up for inspection, but sighed and warned motorists that they cannot drive their cars after tomorrow unless they have a new sticker on their windshields.

The general consensus was that those drivers whose cars need inspection most are among the last to bring their cars to the garage.

As one mechanic put it: "Latecomers usually need a lot of repairs. I guess they figure that if they bring in their cars when we are rushed they may beat the inspection. We have to do a thorough job, however, and usually they find they have to wait several days before they can get their cars."

The average inspection station can handle approximately ten cars a day, it was found. Extensive repair jobs hold down this average to as low as six a day, one garage-man said, regardless of the fact that he employed five mechanics.

Plan for Regulating Bicycles to Be Taken Before Borough Body

Members of the Optimists club voted last night to form a bicycle committee to attend a meeting of the police committee of borough council Friday night and report back to the club on progress made toward the establishment of municipal regulation of bicycles.

The action, taken at a meeting held in the Elks' home, resulted from a Mercury editorial proposing the licensing of bicycles and riders to cut down on accidents involving bicyclists.

Serving on the new committee will be Dr. Robert K. Karn, D. R. Perkins and Elwood E. Angstadt. The trio will attend the meeting of the police committee to be held at 7:30 p. m. in borough hall Friday.

Burgess William A. Griffith, Chief of Police James A. Laughhead, and Senior High school faculty member Earl R. Strange are expected to join the committee in working out a safety program.

Presiding at last night's meeting in the absence of President Dr. A. A. Gallo, Angstadt, vice president in charge of boys' work, told the Optimists that he and Laughhead had discussed a possible ordinance to license bicyclists.

He read a sample ordinance, outlining regulations concerning the licensing and registration of bicycles, as well as regulating their equipment, mechanical condition and punishment to be meted out as a result of infraction of the bicycle law.

The sample ruling called for a registration fee of 25 cents and the rear tagging of every bicycle, with the borough keeping a record of every vehicle and the owner.

In addition, bicyclists would be required by law to obey regular traffic laws and stunt riding, carrying an additional person on the handlebars or frame and parallel riding would be prohibited.

Standard equipment such as a front white light, rear reflectors, and dependable brakes would be required for a bicycle to pass an annual inspection by borough officials.

For infraction of the rules, a boy's bike could be impounded for periods ranging from seven to 30 days, depending on the number of previous violations.

Angstadt stressed that the ordinance was only a sample, and that if eventually adopted, some or all of its provisions might be changed or dropped by the borough.

The Optimists agreed that some form of juvenile court should be set up so that the youngsters could take part in the regulation of their fellow cyclists.

"This will have to be worked out so that we will establish greater protection for the boys and not make an enemy of them," Angstadt warned, emphasizing that the plan was for the safety of bicyclists and not a punitive program.

Officials Will Seek To Ease Traffic Jams At Reading Crossing

Traffic problems at the intersection of South Hanover street and the Reading Concourse will be discussed tomorrow morning by Burgess William A. Griffith and Borough Manager Dow L. Sears in a conference at Harrisburg with C. R. Johnson, director of the Bureau of Transportation of the Public Utilities commission. Capt. J. Brighill, of Reading, who is head of the Reading railway company's police unit, also will attend.

In order to eliminate traffic congestion in front of the Good Will fire house, it has been suggested that a traffic signal be installed on Hanover street and synchronized with the railroad crossing gates.

When the gates are lowered, the traffic signal would flash a warning to halt Hanover street traffic north of the crossing. In addition, the signal would permit a free flow of traffic to and from the concourse when the gates are down.

Borough officials also have suggested that a new type of crossing gate might be installed so present gate drums would be eliminated. Each side of the crossing could be equipped with three lights so arranged that the area would be illuminated as the gates descend.

To make the changes, Johnson said the consent of the railroad company and the State highway department would be required. Hanover street is a State highway.

Lower Pottsgrove Parents Told of Necessity For Sending Pupils to Junior High Here

Pottstown Junior High school enrollment figures will be increased by at least 50 this fall as the result of action taken by the Lower Pottsgrove school board.

Due to overcrowded conditions in the township school building, its seventh and eighth grade pupils will attend classes in the borough institution this coming term. The move, at first contested by some of the children's parents, now has been accepted as a measure necessary to offset their school's limited capacity.

J. K. Bowman, adviser in the State department of education's consolidated and transportation division at Harrisburg, attended a meeting of the board supervisors and parents in the school Monday night. Also attending was A. M. Kulp, Montgomery county superintendent of schools.

Bowman acquainted the group with State laws, stating that "changes must be made in accordance with the progress of the times."

Present plans call for township buses to transport the pupils back and forth this coming school term. The meeting was conducted by John Albitt, vice president of the board.

Beauty 'Clouded' Eyes of Judges

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29 (AP)—Judges in the Lions International parade here yesterday pleaded confusion today.

It might have been that beautiful Marjorie Ward, standing atop a gorgeous float, and smiling in a charming two-piece swim suit, had obscured their view.

The official announcement of the judges at convention headquarters last night was that the $250 prize for the best commercial float in the parade went to "Kansas, State of Plenty."

The eye-filling Miss Ward graced this vehicle.

But a checkbook disclosed an error, somewhere, and the official record will show that the $250 goes to "Arkansas, State of Plenty."

Kansas didn't have a float.

DUTCH FIGHTERS BAG TRANSPORT, RIVALS DECLARE

Indonesians Report
Nine Persons Are Killed;
Plane Carried Supplies

BATAVIA, Java, July 29 (AP)—American-built Dutch fighter planes straddled republican airfields on Java today, a republican communiqué said, as the Jogjakarta radio announced nine persons, including three British citizens, were killed when an Indian transport plane bringing medical supplies to the Indonesians was shot down.

The Dutch strafing attacks apparently were in swift retaliation for an Indonesian one-plane attack upon Dutch-held Semarang.

The republican communiqué said two Dutch P-40's strafed the Jogjakarta airfield, then attacked the Soerakarta airfield 39 miles northeast of the republican capital. The republicans said the same two planes killed two persons when they crashed in the central Javanese village of Klaten.

A special broadcast by the Jogjakarta radio said the Indian transport, a Dakota which had taken off from Singapore with two tons of medicine for the republic, was fired upon today by two Dutch fighters as the transport approached the landing strip at Jogjakarta.

The radio said the flight, arranged to take supplies to the Indonesian Red Cross, had previously been cleared with the Dutch consul general at Singapore.

(In Singapore, H. H. Schweizer, representative for the international Red Cross, said the Dakota reported shot down at Jogjakarta was not sponsored by international Red Cross.)

The official spokesman of The Netherlands East Indies government in Batavia said Dutch military headquarters had no report of any plane being shot down at Jogjakarta. He said Dutch fighter planes had been in action throughout Java after the Indonesian plane had bombed Semarang but that no report had been received on any such action as was described by the Jogjakarta radio.

Among the dead identified in the announcement were former Wing Commander Constantine, who had been flying between Singapore and Jogjakarta since his discharge from military service, Mrs. Constantine, former squadron leader Hazehurst, and four prominent Indonesians: An Soetjito Hadji Soemarno, Wirjosekone, Dr. Abdulrachman Saleh and a man named Anfin.

Meanwhile, the Dutch extended their grip on the rich resources of Java and Sumatra. Some Republican sabotage was reported in oil fields, but the Dutch said otherwise the general situation was "developing favorably."

This correspondent, during a fight over southwest Java in a Dutch B-25 photo-reconnaissance plane observed wide application of the Indonesians' scorched earth policy.

Downingtown Worker Is Killed by Train

DOWNTOWNTOWN, July 29 (AP)—Isaac Luther Miller, 68-year-old employee of the Downingtown Paper company, was killed today by an east-bound passenger train of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Confirmation of the boy was made four hours later through keys, a 20¢ token and a brace he wore on his right leg. Police said relatives told them Miller had complained of being very nervous and in poor health.

Oklahoman Attacks Wife With Razor; Slain by Constable

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 29 (AP)—J. J. Bourbannais, 40, was shot and killed today in the small crowded courtroom of Justice of the Peace Otis James after he slashed his wife with a razor blade during a peace bond hearing.

His wife, Ida Mae, 37, who was cut across the abdomen and left hand, was reported by hospital attendants not to be in critical condition.

Bourbannais was shot by Constable Cecil Barker. The affair started immediately after Judge James ordered the defendant certified to District court on the peace bond charge.

Judge James gave this account. When the order was given, Bourbannais leaped from his seat on the west side of the court room shouting and ran toward his wife.

Mrs. Bourbannais, standing on the opposite side of the courtroom at the end of the judge's desk, was unable to move.

Bourbannais grappled with his wife and slashed at her with the razor.

Woodrow Butler, of the county attorney's office, picked up James' gun and began slugging Bourbannais.

Bourbannais turned his wife so that she received the first blows.

Barker, who had been seated next to the defendant, waited until Bourbannais turned and then fired one shot.

Spectators in the courtroom became panicky, and several women fainted.

Judge James said that action on the peace bond hearing got under way July 4 when Mrs. Bourbannais' father, he placed under peace bond.

He was arraigned July 15, pleaded innocent and was placed under $1000 bond until his trial today.

Execution of British Sergeants

JERUSALEM, July 29 (AP)—Rumor ridden Palestine waited tensely tonight to see whether Irgun Zvai Leumi would carry out the threatened execution of two British army sergeants in reprisal for the hangings of three members of the Jewish underground.

As the day passed, both the British military and the Palestine police became more optimistic over chances that the sergeants, Mervyn Paice and Clifford Martin, might still be found alive. They were kidnapped July 12 at Natanya and have been held as hostages by Irgun.

Renewed appeals from Jewish groups—including Vaad Leumi, the Jewish national council—that the two be liberated were taken in some quarters to reflect Jewish fears that the sergeants might meet the same fate at the hands of the underground as the three Irgun members who went to the gallows early today for participation in an attack on Acre prison May 4.

One military source said there was a feeling in army circles that if Irgun intended to execute the two sergeants it would have been done so immediately after the hanging of the three Jews.

"Irgun would have executed the men in a spectacular fashion so as to gain a maximum of publicity," this informant said. "There also is a belief by army officials that Irgun's execution of the two now would be regarded as cold-blooded killings by many of the neutral members of the Jewish community, and especially in America."

Growing fear was reported from the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv that Irgun would execute the two sergeants in reprisal for the hanging of the three underground members—Meir Nakar, Jacob Weiss and Asaalom Habor.

One report widely circulated in Tel Aviv was that the retaliation had been timed by Irgun "to coincide 24 hours to the minute after the terrorists were hanged."

Another report was that Irgun was delaying the execution of the sergeants "because of difficulty in finding a Christian chaplain."

French Fail in Bid for Russians To Join in Marshall Program

LAKE SUCCESS, July 29 (AP)—France made a new bid today for Russian co-operation in the Marshall plan and the Soviet bloc answered with a sharp blast and plan for injecting the American aid plan into a United Nations debate.

The main Soviet attack was delivered by L. I. Kaminsky, delegate from White Russia, who told the economic and social council that the U. N. had been completely by-passed on the Marshall plan and declared that for that reason, the council had no right to discuss it.

French Delegate Georges Boris had gone into the Marshall program at length, but after the strenuous White Russian attack no other delegate referred to it during the three-hour session except Soviet Delegate Alexander P. Morozov.

Morozov made no mention of the new French bid for co-operation, declaring only that "the position of the Soviet Union with respect to the plan has been fully stated on the Soviet foreign minister, Mr. Molotov, at the Paris conference." At that time Molotov refused to co-operate with Britain and France in plans to implement the Marshall program.

The issue was raised during a discussion of a report on the second session of the economic commission for Europe which began in Geneva after the collapse of the three power conference early this month.

Russia's attitude on the commission's report led British Minister of State Hector McNell to ask Morozov directly whether the Soviet Union intended to withdraw from the commission, but he received a non-committal reply.

"I do not recommend to any member of the council," Morozov said, "to seek any hidden meaning where there is none."

Boris, in launching the debate, expressed France's deep concern over dangers of a divided economic world and said that France did not consider the split as irrevocable. "My government has said and says again that all the doors remain open," he declared. "The people of France hope and believe that the temporarily interrupted co-operation will be re-established soon."

Bus Service Disrupted By Reading Drivers

READING, July 29 (AP)—A prolonged meeting of drivers today disrupted bus service in Reading and its suburbs.

The meeting called for 2 a. m. broke up in time for normal service to be resumed at about 5 55 a. m. Lee L. Sell, president of Local 1345, of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor-coach Employees, said the interruption was not a strike and came because the meeting ran overtime.

John F. Costello, superintendent of the Reading Street Railway company said the interruption came as a complete surprise to the company. He added the company and union had been negotiating the past few days on several clauses in the present contract.

4500 Jewish Refugees Stay Aboard Vessels

PORT DE BOUC, France, July 29 (AP)—The 4500 Jewish refugees who have been returned to France after an abortive attempt to enter Palestine staged a sitdown strike tonight and refused to leave their ships.

Through what British officials here described as a collective pool, the passengers aboard three British troopships which arrived today have refused to step ashore to the soil they left earlier this month in hopes of reaching the Holy Land.

British and French authorities here said they were at a loss as to what should be the next move. One British official excluded any idea of forcing the refugees to leave the ships by violence.

Clerk Identifies Sales Slip for TNT

SANTA ANA, Calif., July 29 (AP)—A sales slip for dynamite which the State alleges it found in a camera in George (Bud) Gollum's automobile was linked by a witness today to a "young couple" who purchased 50 pounds of the explosive from the Glatfelter, Calif., magazine of the Trojan Powder company the past March 14.

The witness was L. A. Hill of San Fernando, caretaker of the Chatsworth magazine for 26 years. He identified a sales slip, shown him by Special Prosecutor Eugene D. Williams, as a carbon copy of the receipt he said he gave the young couple after the purchase March 14. Williams then withdrew another slip from the camera in says was taken from the car of Gollum, accused with his fiancée, Louise Overen, of the murder of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overen, aboard their yacht in Newport harbor March 15.

Hill identified it as another copy of the receipt he gave the young couple.

"That's one of the carbon copies of the sale March 14," Hill declared. Hill, however, could not identify either Gollum and Louise as the couple which visited his office.

Border Commission In Greece Studied

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—The possibility of a Greek request for continuing international aid with its border problems has led here to informal diplomatic talk of a Balkan "watch dog" commission outside the United Nations.

Diplomats familiar with the talks report British-American interest in the idea as an alternative for the United Nations commission which was defeated in the Security council today by a Russian veto.

The discussions here have considered the possibility that several

George A. Lessig, Mercury advertising manager, described his trip to the West Coast, from which he recently returned, to 50 members of the Lions club, at their dinner meeting at Lakeside Inn last night.
The trip out was made through the northern United States, and he returned by way of Canada, driving through ranges of the Canadian Rockies.
"The return trip through Lake Louise and the Canadian mountains was about the best part of it," Lessig told the club members.
The scenery all along the journey came in for special praise, as the guest speaker told of the mountain animals — moose, bear and wild goats — that he saw in the western U. S. and Canada.
Lessig's travel reminiscences were major part of last night's session. Only a brief business meeting preceded the talk.

Acting in conjunction with the Pottstown Chamber of Commerce, a program will be arranged by Burgess Griffith. This will include features designed to outline historical events of this borough and to emphasize its place in industrial circles of the State, and its excellent geographical situation.

Bausewine, Former Police Chief, Dies
By Staff Correspondent
NORRISTOWN, July 29—Stricken with a heart attack in his sleep, George Bausewine, 81-year-old former Norristown chief of police, was found dead in bed at his home here at noon today.
Bausewine, an ex-major league pitcher and umpire, served as chief here for 14 years until March 28, 1944, when he resigned after being convicted of accepting a $50 bribe from the local lodge of Orioles.
He began his career as a law enforcement officer in Philadelphia in 1893 and at the time of his resignation held the rank of lieutenant.
The former chief was finally cleared of the bribery charge here when the State Supreme court ordered the case thrown out.
He is survived by his wife, Emma, a son and a daughter.

Responsibility of Parents

A CORRESPONDENT to "Readers Say," the adjacent thought-provoking column, yesterday said parents "should encourage their children to go to playgrounds. Failing that,
parents should order the children to stop
annoying neighbors."

That's good advice, but police today find
many parents condone or ignore the mis-
deeds and petty crimes of their children.
It isn't juvenile delinquency that worries police. It's "adult" delinquency. For it is the behavior of adults today that is the biggest contributing factor in the so-called juvenile problem.

Parents who have not yet matured to the degree where they are willing to give up their time and some of their normal pleasures to care properly for their children are among the worst offenders. They are content to let their children run the streets, seek their own
companions and do almost as they wish.

To top off this almost inexcusable attitude, some parents then show a terrific about-face when the child gets into trouble, because of the lack of direction and discipline
at home.

They abuse and ridicule police officers
who must apply the restraint and control
the parents have not given. By their example, they give the children a feeling that they do not have to be obedient
even to the laws of society.

A child is not born with restraint,
obedience, appreciation for property nor his own, and discipline. It is developed slowly through the guidance of family, school and
church and his fellow playmates.

The school does not have enough time
to do the job and still pound rudiments of ABCs into the consciousness.

The church, realizing its responsibility in
a changing world, has made steps to take up
the slack, but still has a long way to go.
Nor are a child's playmates any help when they come from the same unrestrained, un-
guided families as the child himself.

The problem, as ever, goes back to the family. In the first six years, in which the family has complete control, most of the child's habits are established. From then on parents should work with the schools in building good citizens.

And good citizens most assuredly do not hamper or belittle the work of the police. They pay taxes for the protection and assistance a policeman can give.
They give him the respect his position
as guardian and peace-keeper in the community warrants. And they teach their children the man in blue on the corner
can be a friend and benefactor,
rather than an ogre whose presence is to be flouted and evaded.

If parents would exercise more guidance
and discipline at home, there would be less juvenile delinquency.

Beware of the Bat!

HE'S not only "batty," he's literally blind
as a bat after he's looked into the glare of powerful oncoming headlights. It takes seven whole seconds for his eyes to adapt themselves again to the darkness of the highway, and if he's going 45 miles an hour, his car will travel 462 feet in seven seconds.
That's plenty of space to meet up with any of the following: other approaching cars, a sudden curve, a hole in the road, or a careless pedestrian.

Rainy or dirty windshields can blind
motorists, too. Glaring headlights and obscured windshields caused 1400 highway
deaths last year.

The wise night-driver keeps his windshield clean. Makes sure his windshield wipers are in good repair. He never looks directly at approaching headlights, but keeps his eyes focused on the side of the road. To make safety doubly sure, he always drives at moderate speeds at night.

Oven Canning is Risky

CAN all you can do to help beat the cost of living. But do not can in your oven.
Explosions due to built up pressure are a very real hazard. Council studies show. Use
the water bath for fruits and tomatoes,
the pressure canner for non-acid vegetables,
and the open kettle for jams, jellies and relishes.

have flatly and frankly informed W.
Averell Harriman, Secretary of Commerce, that any attempt to satisfy Western Europe's requirements for capital goods
under the Marshall plan will have an extremely adverse effect on progressive recovery
and stability in this country.

These advisers were called to Washington
because, under the law
extending presidential authority to divert the flow of goods abroad if he finds it essential to fortification of his foreign policy, Harriman
becomes a key figure in the transaction.

Before Mr. Truman
can authorize such exports, the Secretary of Commerce must certify that the drain will not work to the disadvantage
of American manufacturers, farmers and consumers.

DAMAGING: Although the recent conferences here were only exploratory affairs, representatives of industry, agriculture and finance presented data damaging to any effort to assist Europe within the next two years, if domestic needs are to be met.

This decision is extremely significant because Harriman's conferees
were neither political nor economic isolationists. Even industrialists and business men are narrow-minded in this respect. They recognize that Europe must be built into a going concern for the sake of continued
American prosperity.

But, as Russian spokesmen have said
so frequently before the United Nations and other European conferences, they realize that "charity must begin at home."

STEEL: The big bottleneck, of course, is steel. Besides the drastic shortage of this basic product, the increased price necessitated by the recent boom in coal miners'
wages will add to the cost of any help-Europe program.

The productive, transportation and capital requirements of Western Europe are of the sort which call for a maximum output of steel that is far beyond our present or prospective capacity. The anti-Communist nations' primary needs are locomotives,
boxcars, trucks, tractors, machine
tools, agricultural implements of all kinds and electric power facilities.

It is in these very lines domestic shortages exist today. Manufacturers and farmers are crying for these things to fill the tremendous backlog of domestic demands.

Automobile factories have had to close down for want of sufficient steel.
Farmers may lose crops for lack of the equipment needed for harvesting purposes.

EXPANSION: The seemingly simple solution is expansion of the steel industry for the production of this basic element. That was the report of President Truman's experts when the picture painted above was presented to them. But it is not such an easy answer as it seems on the surface.

For one thing, it will require at least two years to construct sufficient new facilities to enable us to meet the combined domestic and foreign demand.

Secondly, leaders in this industry are reluctant to undertake such expansion
for fear that the current peak demand
may not last and they might be left holding an empty bag.

HAZARDS: The Administration could
break this bottleneck by advancing R.P.C.
funds at low interest for construction of new plants. Or, as in wartime, the government could erect its own plants, and lease them to steel makers.

But a large-scale investment of this sort for bailing out Europe has political hazards which Mr. Truman would probably not want to assume
on the eve of a presidential election.

Incidentally, the whole question of large-scale assistance to Europe and blockading Communism's aggression is boggled by 1948, political considerations.

ABANDONED: When Europe's demands
are submitted to the White House next Fall, and when the Harriman Committee of Eighteen has reported back with more details of this country's apparent inability to meet them without stripping our own resources, President Truman must make and make an extremely difficult decision only a few months before he seeks re-election.

He then must decide whether he will carry through with his great experiment in the field of foreign policy
— namely, the rebuilding of Europe as a democratic buffer against Russia —
and call for domestic sacrifices which may jeopardize his chances at the polls. Or, thinking of his own political fate, he must hem and haw and back away from the Marshall program.

Unless President Truman can persuade a Republican Congress next year
to approve the plan for giving Europe
priority over the United States for these
all-important products, the bettings
are even that the great, anti-Communist crusade will be abandoned.

Many Plays Marked

Many of the most complex plays
known to the game can be marked
in advance as both necessary to make your contract and also as sure to succeed. They are marked as winners by the bidding or the early play or a combination of the two. This is just as true of intricate squeezes as of the simplest throw-ins. Even a device as rare
as a double "Vienna coup" — in which you deliberately set up hostile
high cards in two suits and then squeeze them to death — can be foretold sometimes as a positive winner.

South was pleased beyond measure when his first glimpse of the dummy showed that his pair had all three of the side aces. West led the diamond A and, to avoid helping the declarer by leads of the other suits, repeated with the 4
to the K.

Right there South planned the entire balance of his play. If, as seemed likely from the bidding,
West had all of the spade honors
higher than the 10 and East the club K-Q, he would not have to worry about the hearts, in which both defenders had shown a probability of something. A double squeeze would work against them.

To prepare for it, he first had to apply the "Vienna coup" principle twice, using his own aces to set up the opponents' secondary honors. Then he would run diamonds, on the last of which West
would be squeezed between spades
and hearts, then East between clubs
and hearts.

So to the third trick he led the spade 7. West playing the J and dummy the A. Then he led the club 2 from dummy. East playing the Q and South the A. Then followed all the diamonds. When the last was played, South also held the heart 10 and club J and dummy the spade 10 and heart
dummy the spade 10 and heart
K-Q. Had to keep the spade 10 tossed off a heart. The spade 10
was then discarded from dummy.
Now East was squeezed between the heart J-6 and the club K.

In Hollywood

By JIMMIE FIDLER

HOLLYWOOD, July 29 — The report that Abbott and Costello are organizing an independent production company and intend to produce their own pictures, henceforth, leaves me in a wondering muse.

According to common report,
Lou and Bud are just about the poorest businessmen to win Hollywood stardom
since the nerdy
of Charlie Ray,
another comedy
genius who turned down millions of dollars in certified studio contracts to become
the producer of
his own pictures.
Ray went bankrupt on his first picture.

Abbott and Costello, it seems to me, can not be logically influenced by reason which prompt stars to set up shop as independent producers. Their brand of comedy is so unique, and has such obvious appeal, that they are in a position to write their own ticket
with virtually any studio in the business. They can have story approval and the guaranteed right to pick their own director and supporting cast. And as far as money is concerned, they're already taking it in so fast that their only
financial problem is income tax.

Why then should two men in their position willingly incur the unavoidable headaches that attend
the management of a complex production enterprise? I can ask that question, but I'm darned if I can answer it.

I'm wondering if Bud and Lou,
both unusually prone to listen to the advice of "friends," aren't being sold a bill of goods by someone who has an axe to grind. If so, I hope they'll use an axe, when the time comes, on the proper parties.

THE HOLLYWOOD PA-RADE: Humphrey Bogart, nearperfectionist. Despite Mr. Bogart's assiduous efforts to maintain his "tough-guy" pose, he still, being merely human, slips
now and then and orders a strawberry ice cream soda.

Kirk Douglas, extremist. Mr.
Douglas, whose almost unprecedented run of good luck carried him from obscurity to a $65,000-a-picture status, embarked on a bad luck cycle.
In a single week, his dog developed distemper, his son submitted to a tonsillectomy, his wife
had to have two abscessed teeth
pulled and he himself contracted pneumonia.

Orson Welles, art critic. Although he had never professed extensive knowledge of sculpture, Mr.
Welles still felt obligated, on being presented with a statuette
of himself, to seize a scalpel
and pare the figure's somewhat bulgy midriff down to more flattering proportions.

Despite that "best performance"
award, Anne Baxter still vows that she will retire whenever she decides that she's reached the peak of her acting career — and I like her reason. "I'd rather have people ask
'where on earth is Anne Baxter?'
than to have them say 'My God, is
she still hanging around?'"

clubs, then leads the spade A and K and club Q, now should South
play to make his 4-Spades?

ROAD HUMP — At the regular meeting
of the Town council, the highway committee was authorized to confer with Prof. Meigs, of The Hill School, regarding grading the hump in front of the school.

STABLE FIRE — Fire last night destroyed the frame stable owned by Thomas Greenhoff, between Chestnut
and Walnut streets.

GIANT EEL — Lyman B. Riegner, well-known local newspaper correspondent,
captured a 35-inch eel, weighing 3½ pounds in the river at Sanatoga, last night.

July 30, 1922

IMPROVEMENTS — The Sanatoga Fire
company has voted to spend $5000 for new fire apparatus and for interior improvements to the fire house. The company has already purchased a new engine.

GUESTS — Mrs. Joseph H. Keiser and Mrs. James Weimer, of Mont. Clare, are guests at the home of Communian and Mrs. James W. Reigner, 117 Chestnut street.

CRUSHES FOOT — Benjamin Latham, 374 High street, a brakeman employed by the Pennsylvania railroad, was the victim of an accident yesterday morning
when his left foot was crushed when it became caught between bumpers.

July 30, 1937

LEASES STORE — Announcement was made yesterday of the leasing of the store at 251 High street, now occupied by the American Stores company, to Robert J. Snyder, jeweler, of 12 East Main street, Norristown. Snyder's jewelry store will open about Oct. 1.

GAS CARGO OVERTURNS — Out of control when the steering column
snapped, a huge truck and trailer, loaded
with 3500 gallons of gasoline, yesterday morning left the Pottstown-West Chester
highway, near Coventryville road, sheared
off two telegraph poles and then upset.

WEDDING — Miss Kathleen M. Sires, daughter of Mrs. Minnie Sires, 335 Walnut street, and Mr. Kenneth Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davis, 434 Lincoln avenue, will be married Saturday in Valley Forge Memorial chapel.

Voice of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

The Gal Who Made Mother Gasp

PEARL WHITE is back on Broadway.
She has returned, in the slightly streamlined shell of Betty Hutton, to two distinct audiences: one the nostalgically
sighing males and matrons who remember Pearl from their shining youth, the other the bobby-soxers to whom Miss
White is a brand new character.

The bobby-soxers don't know, of course, that in her day Pearl was as great as Ingrid Bergman, as athletic as Esther Williams, and as brave as Alan Ladd.

She received more fanmail than Van
Johnson and her black velvet tam o'channer was as famous as Lana Turner's sweater. During World War I, she sold more bonds than did Dorothy Lamour
in World War II, and her picture was pinned up more often than Betty Grable's.
Her cinematic deeds were so amazing
that they inspired a popular song, "Poor Pauline," and her private life was considered immensely exciting.

As the foremost serial queen of all time, Pearl can be looked upon as the mother of the movie habit. Because of their curiosity to find out what was going to happen to her next, audiences kept returning each week, and thereby they became accustomed to going to the movies regularly.

Pearl got her chance to play Pauline in "Pauline" because she knew the answers to two questions. When Louis Garnier, head of Pathe, in 1914, was considering her for the part, he asked her:
"Do you want to be famous?" and "Do you carry insurance?" The answer was
"yes" in both directions. Under the same sort of conditions, Betty Hutton would have said the same.

Pearl had stringy red hair, large green-yellow eyes and a snub nose. She stood five feet six inches tall, weighed in her prime 110 pounds. She was husky and physically, and as a result, in her
films, she wore a blonde wig because it photographed better. She always carried a wig around with her, even long after she quit pictures, in case she was called upon to make a formal appearance. Betty is five feet four inches tall and weighs 112 pounds. She has blonde hair, which just about matches the color of Pearl's
wig, and large blue eyes. She doesn't need a wig.

Pearl was a good scout, frank, impulsive, vivacious, self-reliant and luxurious. When she got into a chip, she bought a yellow Stutz "Bearcat" and tore up and down the New York streets with the cut-out open. But she saved most of her money because she always had a fear of going broke. Change the tense
from past to present and the yellow Stutz
to a blue Buick convertible, and the name "Pearl" could read "Betty."

All of Pearl's movies were made in the East and, when working, she lived in a swank apartment over Murray's famous old restaurant on West 42nd Street in New York. Later, after she quit pictures, she moved to Paris where she had a town house and a 20-room villa at Ram-bouillet.

She loved to travel. She used to follow the seasons at resorts like Biarritz, Cairo, and the Riviera. She visited every place in the world except the South Seas and Hollywood. She often expressed a desire to spend several weeks in California but was never able to find the time. When she traveled, she moved about in a semi-regal fashion. On one occasion she had a section of the deck
of a channel steamer roped off for her exclusive use. Pearl died in Paris in 1938,
her death being caused by complications
rising from an old spinal injury which
she had received while making a serial.
Last August, when in Paris on a USO
tour, Betty drove by the American cemetery in Passy where Pearl is buried. That is as close as Fate ever brought them together.

COMPLAINT DEPT. — Writes D. E. P.:

"There are a few of us girls—poor souls—who don't smoke largely because we don't like it. But why, must be have
at a lunch counter or an adjoining table,
a neighbor who lights a cigaret and then
blows full blast the smoke right smack
in our direction? If you mention it to the offender you get a gaze that withers
you, a look that says, 'Well, if you don't like it, why don't you blow some back at me?' Girls are the most inconsiderate of others' feelings. Men do it, but not as frequently. And another thing: It seems most inconsiderate of most of our cafes
and restaurants to let smokers sit at the tables and smoke and dream away 15
or 20 minutes while many of us are waiting for tables. Why couldn't restaurants set aside a small section for non-smokers,
those of us who want to eat and get?"

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

A LITTLE experience tells a watchful
mother when her baby is suffering from colic for she soon learns to recognize the hard, snappy cry which signifies abdominal distress. This type of crying usually occurs in the evening, though, once in a while, such a baby will cry all through the day.

The baby's sleep is disturbed and during an attack its knees will be bent and its abdominal muscles contracted and rigid.

According to Dr. Arthur S. Brackett,
of the Yale university school of medicine,
the colic may be due to the fact that the capacity of the baby's stomach and bowel, or bowel alone, is less than normal.
Thus, the treatment of the colic consists in controlling the volume and quality of the food put into the stomach and bowel.

This can be done by increasing the number of feedings to shorter intervals,
decreasing the size of the feedings and,
if necessary, increasing the concentration.
Thus in treating the colic, it is necessary for the doctor to determine just what "feeding" may be at hand.

Some infants will do better on four-hour feedings, others on three-hour, and not infrequently only two hours should elapse between the feedings. However,
the more frequently the feedings are given, the less quantity is permitted, and,
if necessary, water is given between feedings.

Sometimes it is helpful to give the drug known as atropine, since this tends to relax the bowel spasms.

When the feeding intervals are shortened, the baby's sleep is kept on this schedule until the capacity of the intestine has increased to the degree that larger amounts of food may be taken at less frequent times.

In some cases, it may be found that a change to evaporated or dry milk will be helpful, especially if there is a history
of allergy or oversensitivity in the family.

In the case of a breast-fed baby, Dr.
Brackett believes that the colic will be relieved if the baby is put on a two-
hour feeding schedule, being permitted to nurse for just five minutes at each time. This means that the baby gets ten feedings a day.

Dr. Brackett points out that the early
care of colic is important in order to prevent partial starvation during the time
when there is a most active development of the nervous system. It is also necessary to prevent wear and tear on the parents, as well as pain in the baby.

Summonses Mailed To Five Autoists

Summonses to five motorists for alleged violations occurring in Boyertown during the past few days were issued by Justice of the Peace Earl H. Keim, 133 North Reading avenue. Each will be arraigned before Justice Keim for a hearing.

Chief of Police Arthur B. Heere made the following arrests: Francis E. Brady, Wren Mansion, Boyertown RD 2, charged with driving a motorcycle without registration plates, at 11:25 a. m. on July 17; Walter H. Houck, Gabelsville, charged with illegal passing on West Philadelphia avenue at 12:25 p. m. on July 17; Walter A. Anderson, Alburtis, charged with making a U-turn at the intersection of Reading and Philadelphia avenues on July 29 at 9 p. m.

Patrolman Douglas R. Zook made the following arrests: W. W. Stoffer, Gabelsville RD 1, charged with disregarding a stop sign at Third street and South Reading avenue, at 11:35 p. m. on July 19; and Alexander Rakowski, Phoenixville, charged with reckless driving on North Reading avenue at 1:20 a. m. on July 27.

Candidate Withdraws From GOP Ticket

Ralph C. Horn, 391 South Reading avenue, has withdrawn from the race for nomination as clerk of quarter sessions on the Republican ticket.

Horn filed his withdrawal Monday morning but its acceptance was delayed until an affidavit accompanied his resignation. He said last night that his withdrawal is now final. He has been employed by Reading company for 31 years.

This vacancy on the Republican county ticket probably will be filled on a "write-in" basis, since Horn was the only Republican seeking the nomination.

Two area Democrats are seeking the nomination for clerk of quarter sessions. They are Ralph Dörner, Washington township, who drew fourth place on the ballot at the drawing for positions in the courthouse in Reading yesterday, and Calvin J. Kutz, Boyertown, who drew fourth place.

First place went to Robert A. Althouse, Lower Alsace township, and second place, to Paul A. Gettel, Tulpehocken township.

Hunsberger Triumphs In Borough Tennis

Gordon Hunsberger took his first step in defending his championship of Boyertown last night by defeating Mark Campbell in straight sets, 6-0 and 6-2.

Hunsberger returned and joined with Stanley Levensgood in a double match, winning over Walter Erb and Rufus Murhard, 7-5 and 6-4.

Today's schedule is now as follows: this afternoon, Bill Starrett vs. Murhard, 5:30 p. m., a singles semi-finals match bringing together Levensgood and John Rose, and 6 p. m., Merrill Crounhamel vs. Clifford Schaeffer.

Hunsberger and Levensgood will go after Rooney Kinder and Gordon Bahr in a quarter-final doubles match tomorrow.

Pastor Officials At Baptismal Rites

Baptisms performed on Sunday in St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church by the Rev. David P. Longacre, pastor, include the following: Thomas Michael Shaner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren A. Shaner, Jr., 1015 S. 10th St., Boyertown; Carol Louise Starrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Starrett, Jr., 601 City; and John Calvin Yoh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin L. Yoh, 57 North Reading avenue.

Monica Louise Koons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evan G. Koons, was baptized the past Thursday by the Rev. Harper L. Schneek, pastor of Church of the Good Shepherd, Evangelical and Reformed, at the parsonage at 35 West Philadelphia avenue. She was born on June 6, 1947.

JOHN E. NEWMAN

Lead, kindly Light, amid th' encircling gloom,
Lead thou me on.
The night is dark, and I am far from home;
Lead thou me on.
Keep Thou my feet; I do not ask to see
The distant scene; one step enough for me.

"Little Stories" GREAT HYMNS

In 1835, Newman was forced by illness to leave his parsonage. He went to Rome, but assailed by political and religious worries, started back to England. Fog delayed the ship, and in this enforced quiet, Newman found the peace so beautifully expressed in this prayer-hymn that has brought serenity to the perplexed for generations.

DR. SIMPSON —

equipment needed for the separation of Uranium 238 at the $2,000,000 plant constructed at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

A thousand times larger than any plant previously considered in either industrial or academic use, the project posed a huge problem with speed of paramount importance, Dr. Rauch pointed out.

"The staff had to begin with only incomplete theoretical information," he said, "and had to develop the theory for the complete operation and then design the equipment on these theoretical bases."

Dr. Simpson explained that the radiation laboratory had to determine whether the electro-magnetic separation of Uranium 235 was economically feasible in a mass spectrometer and whether a large scale plant would be justified.

"One of the most vexing problems," Dr. Simpson declared, "was that of keeping a high vacuum in the large metal tank in which the separation took place."

"The expedient followed is similar to that used in ships to keep them afloat. A vessel is made as tight as possible and then pumps are used to remove what water leaks in."

He went on to say that his part was to work with a group charged with developing and testing pumps and methods of making seals, finding leaks and measuring the vacuums.

"This was before the Manhattan Project had started," Dr. Simpson continued, "and funds were not too ample. We did our own plumbing, wiring and soldering. It was hard work, but the progress made was so great and the spirit in the group so good that it was a fine experience."

In November, 1942, the decision to build a plant was reached, and by March, 1943, ground was broken at Oak Ridge.

Dr. Simpson went there that summer to help start the first experimental unit. He returned in the fall to serve as technical adviser to the fabricators of the plant after the first part had been completed.

Back in his California radiation laboratory, an electronic vacuum gauge was developed to replace existing gauges. New pumps and valves also were developed and tested and were found to be capable of pumping gas to a pressure of one-hundred-millionth of an atmosphere.

Dr. Rauch's particular problem dealt with the development of theoretical information to assist in reducing the enormous amount of electrical power loss produced by the movement of electrons and ions through gases.

"Demands by the armed forces repeatedly forced larger quantities of production," he recalled. "As the costs were so tremendous and time so short, efficient production became paramount and this resulted in exploration into the atomic structure of gases far beyond earlier knowledge."

"Extensive research was conducted into the behavior of the bombardment of gases and metals by high speed electrons and electrically charged atomic particles. Thus the theoretical group was able to offer vital improvements in the quantity and quality of the production of the rare element Uranium 238."

The experiments the two men now are conducting are an extension of the same work which they carried on during the war.

Judge Compensates Ousted School Head

PITTSBURGH, July 29 (AP)—The Coraopolis school board ousted Harry E. Houtz as principal of schools but Allegheny County Judge Thomas M. Marshall today handed down a ruling which acted as restorative for the educator's pride, position and pocketbook.

The jurist ordered the school board to reinstate Houtz as a "professional employee" of the school district at his old salary of $4500 yearly and also to pay him his $375 wages for July, now in arrears.

Seven weeks ago the Coraopolis board voted 4-3 to abolish Houtz's position and named Dr. Guy N. Harringer to the newly-created position of supervising principal of schools. The court ruled today the board could retain both men if it desired, although the duties would be similar.

"It is obvious," Judge Marshall said, "that the method of suspending the principal and abolishing his position was done for the purpose of getting rid of Houtz without having made charges against him."

PRICE OF STEEL —

that "big steel" would not raise prices until a "fair test" had been made of cost factors resulting from the coal wage settlement.

At Washington, Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the president's council of economic advisers, was silent as he watched the wave of higher steel prices virtually complete its surge through the industry.

"There is no comment from the council," he told a reporter.

President Truman recently said higher steel and coal prices would "imperil prosperity." He sought to stave them off by appealing to the producers.

Mr. Truman took this unusual step on July 14 shortly after the higher coal wage agreement between John L. Lewis and the operators. He said there were fears that a new round of commodity price hikes might "renew the inflationary spiral."

Mr. Truman urged that the producers give the new wage scales a "fair test" under "conditions of maximum production."

Even as he issued his request, however, higher coal quotations were appearing in many cities, and industry circles said a $5 steel increase already was in the wind.

WONT APPEAL ORDER

HARRISBURG, July 29 (AP)—The anthracite industry decided today against an appeal to the State Superior court from an order of the public utility commission authorizing construction of a $5,000,000 natural gas pipeline in eastern Pennsylvania to the New York border.

of the program," he added, "but the supervision and handling of the plan will be the most difficult part."

One way to make the licensing program more palatable to Pottstown bicyclists, it was suggested, would be to use any excess registration fees for a yearly picnic, a program that has been carried out successfully in other communities.

Members agreed that a favorable manner of establishing the boys' own court would be to run a special election in the Junior and Senior High schools during the Optimist-sponsored Boys' Week, with the annual winners serving as the young law enforcement officers.

Following the discussion of bicycle registration, a board of governors meeting set Saturday, Aug. 16, as the day for an empty bottle campaign.

On that date three trucks, with Boy Scouts of Troop 7 and members of the Optimists Boys Photo club assisting, will scour the town for empty bottles of every description—soft drink, soda, beer, liquor, milk, vinegar, and catsup bottles all acceptable.

Proceeds of the drive will be used to further the program of boys' work to be carried out by the Optimists.

booked ahead of time, and only the scheduled number of cars is inspected in a day. In others, cars are left for inspection on a first come, first served basis. Many of these garages had three or four days' work already lined up.

"I guess we'll be overloaded completely for the next few days," another mechanic declared. "I wish they were all like the new cars or those kept in good condition. They are brought in early in the inspection period because their drivers want to get the job over with in a hurry. Now they will have to wait their turn. It's going to take us several days to get the work cleared up."

KAISER CLAIMS —

Robert Lovett then assistant secretary of war, all had backed the proposal to build huge cargo planes.

Chad F. Calhoun, a Kaiser company vice president, volunteered that Kaiser was assured of a WPB "letter of intent" leading to a contract after conferring less than 15 minutes at the White House with Leahy.

"You wanted to have White House backing?" Ferguson inquired.

Calhoun commented that Leahy was an important military personality—"at least he was all dressed up in a uniform."

Kaiser and Calhoun detailed how they checked with Jesse Jones, then secretary of commerce and head of the Government's wartime defense plant corporation, about Hughes.

Kaiser said Jones gave Hughes the highest praise as "a genius."

Ferguson then wanted to know whether Kaiser was concerned about the fact that the huge flying boats were to be built at the Hughes plant at Calver City, Calif., "some 20 miles from the water and yet they could not be put into the air except from the water."

Kaiser replied that was an "engineering decision" over which Hughes had direction. Senator Hatch (D-NM) recalled Hughes' testimony at an earlier closed committee session. He said Hughes had testified it was easier to build the big flying boat and move it to the water than move the entire aircraft plant the same distance.

Kaiser said that Hughes was so intensely interested in the design project that after the government spent $16,000,000 Hughes added "seven million of his own money."

Kaiser made it plain at the end of his testimony that Hughes, not Kaiser, was responsible under the contract for the huge flying boats.

"From Nov. 16, 1942, I assumed no responsibility," Kaiser said.

Kiwanians See Film On Vocational School

Color films showing the activities of Pottstown's Vocational school were shown at last night's meeting of the Kiwanis club in the Elks' home.

Wilbur Cressman, chairman of the club's vocational guidance committee, showed the pictures and furnished an explanation of the activities.

Use of the tools and machinery by students in the school electrical, carpentry, metal, printing and drafting shops was the theme of the show. Virtually every phase of the program was covered in the film.

After the motion pictures, Dr. Karl R. Stone, Kiwanis president, presided at a board meeting devoted to plans for the organization's talent show, "Heavenly Hollywood," scheduled for production in September.

RUSSIA VETOS —

door to deliver a speech he had been waiting out all long-hand throughout today's sessions but the council voted 8 to 1 with Poland dissenting to uphold the American move to adjourn.

Gromyko left U N headquarters immediately after the meeting and had no comment.

Throughout the previous debates Gromyko had laid all the blame on the present Greek government and defended Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria, the three Soviet satellites accused by a Balkan investigating commission of fomenting frontier incidents.

Johnson called Gromyko's veto "a challenge to the prestige and authority of the United Nations as a guardian of the peace."

"By abuse of the veto power, one member has frustrated the will of the majority," Johnson told reporters. "As soon as practicable the United States will state in the council what the next step will be. We are not going to let the thing go by default."

This was the second Russian veto on a Balkan commission, the first coming Sept. 20, 1946 when Gromyko turned down an American-sponsored resolution for an investigating commission. He abstained, however, when the commission finally was set up the past December.

A British spokesman termed the Russian veto today the "logical outcome of Soviet policy in the Balkans as evidenced in the obstruction of the work of the commission" sent into the Balkans the past winter. He added that it is "further evidence that the Soviet government is not willing to lift a finger to solve the unrest in the Balkans."

Killing of the U S proposal left the council with only one resolution to consider on the long-nagging Balkan disorders. That motion, authorized by Russia, merely calls on Greece, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania to settle their differences. It also demands that all foreign troops get out of Greece and the U N supervise all aid to Greece.

Speculation centered around two possible moves.

1. Poland was reported readying a watered-down version of the American proposal for presentation to the council Thursday. This would be designed to satisfy Russia but obviously would be unacceptable to the United States.

2. If council action finally is stalled, Greece might invite the nine council members supporting the American proposal to send representatives into Greece's troubled border areas as a commission of their own.

The Friendship Hook and Ladder company of Boyertown will send its apparatus to extinguish oil fires set on the field. The first will be put out with water streams, and the second with a blast of the company's chemical equipment.

Bringing the show to a close, the Army recruiting will set up outdoor movies for the spectators.

Wife Charges Husband With Assault, Battery

Charged with assault and battery and surety of the peace, Tony Wabin, of 382 North Charlotte street, was given a hearing yesterday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Richard H. Cadmus of the Seventh ward. He was held under $500 bail for action of the Montgomery County court.

Wabin was arrested at 2:24 o'clock yesterday morning at his home by Patrolmen Harold E. Hahn and Thomas Corum on a warrant sworn out by his wife, Nellie Wabin.

Wabin had fallen down a flight of stairs at his home early yesterday morning and he was taken to Pottstown hospital where he was treated for some bruises and then discharged.

The Ingalls were accused of retaining Dora Jones, now living with a brother in St. Louis, Mo., to slavery by drugging and threats of jail because of an affair of nearly 40 years ago with Mrs. Ingalls' first husband, Walter Harman, of Washington, D. C.

The court was advised that Dora Jones, aged 50, was paid $5000 as a "fair" settlement and "that she held no ill will" against the Ingalls.

Seek Auto Crash Damages From Spring City Woman

Named defendant in a $20,460 suit for injuries suffered by an Ohio war veteran and his wife, was Eva Skinner, of Spring City, it was revealed last night.

The suit was filed in Berks county court yesterday by plaintiffs Carl I. and Evelyn Snyder, Marshallville, Ohio, as result of an automobile accident near Wernersville on June 20, 1946.

Claiming that he suffered a permanent partial disability of the right knee, Snyder asks $11,940, while his wife seeks $8250 for fractured ribs, lacerations and internal injuries.

It was brought out in court that the accident occurred down a road on the western approach to Wernersville, at which time the Snyder vehicle swerved from the right to the left side of the road into the path of Snyder's car. Snyder, at the time of the crash, was en route to his home after his discharge from service.

Fire Chief Louis Armentrout said the cause of the explosion had not been determined. First reports indicated that a boiler blew up. However, it was thought later that coal dust had exploded.

A number of people reported the odor of gas just after the explosion.

One of these, John O'Neill, who was leaving his work as a plumber in the house on one side, our some feet away, from the century parlor, said the force "staggered" him.

"I was standing by the screened door just getting ready to go outside and it pulled me through the doorway. The only thing I thought about was running to get help," he said.

Police Chief Julius P. Ritchie said he was sitting in his office several blocks away. "I looked out of the window and saw heavy black smoke all over the downtown area." R. Miller was four blocks away and reported a "heavy black pall of smoke which turned yellow."

Walking along the street not far from the building, J. E. Kittinger's first thought was that dynamite had been set off in excavating for a building. "Then I noticed everyone running and yelling and saw a postman carrying a woman across the street."

Vacationing With Mercury Readers

BY THE VACATION EDITOR
of The Mercury Staff

A fish is an animal that seems to go for a vacation about the same time most fishermen do. Of course, some people don't fish... they just drown worms.

We all know of people who take a week off to go fishing and return with stories about their success, but no real proof. Similarly, there are bathing beauties who set out to show their stuff at the swimming spots but somehow escape ever getting wet.

And there is always someone who comes home and raves about his boating experiences, not mentioning it is a t a t someone else did all the rowing. Camping trips also are wonderful when the tale is told later, but no mention is made of the awkward encounters with spiders, snakes, and the terrifying noises one is likely to hear at night. It must be human nature to relate the best side of a story.

Rupert, Tot Lot Playground Youngsters Selected to Enter Grand Amateur Show
Rupert and Tot Lot playground youngsters yesterday afternoon held their elimination contests to select participants for the grand amateur show at Manatoway park tomorrow night.

The youngsters are brushing up on their numbers, in an effort to put their playground in the winners class. Meanwhile, the following were added to the list of contestants:

Tot Lot: Marilyn Wiener, Fay Hiltwine, Brenda and Dickie Fidler, Virginia Lillie, Lucille Elias, Edward Richards, and a chorus including Paula Vander-slice, Lucille Elias, Jane Mace, Dorothy March and Goldie Kish.

Rupert school: Freddie Mar-affe, George Welsh, Penny Himes, Carol Ann Hartwig, Carol of Swartzkoff and Clandette Welsh.

Judges at the Tot Lot playground were Mrs. Daniel Brunnish, Mrs. Paul Crist, and Mrs. Edwin Kurtz. Winners at Rupert were chosen by applause.

Captain Kid and his famous pirates had few adventures in hunting for buried treasure compared to the playground youngsters of Pottstown. Yesterday afternoon 60 Lincoln playground children took part in a treasure hunt, seeking the reward of free movie passes to a local theater.

Divided into two age groups, the 8 to 12 year-olds combed the area between State and York streets, from Eighth street to Reynolds avenue, in search of nine well-hidden clues. The four winners were Lloyd Hughes, Donnie Skean, Sherwood Yergey and Shirley Impink.

The 3 to 7 year-olds, confined

Flying Lifeboats for Rescues

This new craft, shown in an architect's sketch, has been proposed for use by the Coast Guard for rescue work in high seas. It is a helicopter-glider that can be launched almost vertically from land and water. It has two three-bladed rotors, each revolving in the opposite direction, which would overcome serious balance problems. The amphibious craft, which would be towed behind a plane and released at the scene of a disaster, is designed to carry a crew of three and a good number of the survivors of a shipwreck.

Nine Filers Killed In Superfort Crash; Two Are Rescued

EGLEN FIELD, Fla., July 29 (AP)—Nine of 11 crewmen on a B29 Superfortress taking off on a routine training flight lost their lives when the plane plunged into a swampy area just north of the field today.

The other two crewmen were injured, one seriously, when the craft went down soon after taking off and caught fire.

Capt. Robert Gaughan, public relations officer at the field, said the gasoline tanks did not explode and that the bodies were removed without being burned.

At Pittsfield, Mass., the family of Capt. Gordon W. Barrett Jr., was notified that he was a crewman on the ill-fated craft.

Barrett was a West Point graduate and winner of the distinguished flying cross during World War II as a Superfortress pilot.

Captain Gaughan said names of the other victims could not be released until their next of kin had been notified.

The plane went down at 8:13 a. m. near Valparaiso, Fla., about 200 yards north of Eglin field, apparently without gaining much altitude after the takeoff, Gaughan said.

WELL WANT FOR PAUL UNDER THE OVERHANG WHERE HE CAN'T BE SEEN—

THAT ARROW CAME FROM THIS DIRECTION—

A WARRIOR! I COULD DROP HIM IN HIS TRACKS WITH ONE BULLET—

I'VE GOT TO GET HIM BEFORE HE GETS ONE OF THE BOYS—

... BUT THE SOUND WOULD BRING A SWARM OF HIS TROOP MEN—

TA-TA!

I DON'T GET IT, CHEN— A VAST TREASURE-LADEN TRAIN DISAPPEARS LIKE A DIME THROUGH A HOLE IN YOUR POCKET. WASN'T IT GUARDED?

LIKE A MOTHER HEN GUARDS HER CHICKS— BUT IT VANISHED JUST THE SAME. AND THAT, ME LAD, IS WHERE YOU COME IN!

YOUR JOB, BRICK, IS TWO-FOLD. WE HOPE YOU CAN UNCOVER THE ANSWERS TO THE VANISHED TRAIN MYSTERY. FIRST, HOW COME? SECOND, WHERE TO? GET IT?

YES, BUT— OH, OH, CHEN, THERE'S THAT PLANE AGAIN. BEEN FOLLOWING US FOR THE LAST HALF-HOUR!

WE'RE TIRED OF BEING PUSHED AROUND.

BUT I'VE EXPLAINED EVERYTHING TO THE CHIEF, REALLY?

YOU MEAN WERE IN THE CLEAR?

REB!

THEN THE YAPS CAN'T PUSH US AROUND? WHERE FORE?

THEY WANT TO MAKE US PAY FOR THE BIG SPREAD TONIGHT!

SURE! DON'T TELL THEM YOU'RE IN THE CLEAR? LET THEM RUN UP A BIG BILL— WE'LL HAVE THE LAST LAUGH!

NOW WE'LL STICK THEM!

JUST THINK! IF THAT OLD TREE HADN'T MASHED OUR BOAT, WE COULD BE ON OUR WAY TO SEE DAD!

RIGHT DOWN THE RIVER!

MAN, WHAT WE COULD DO IF WE ONLY HAD A LITTLE MOTOR BOAT LIKE THAT ONE OUT THERE!

THAT'S JUST ABOUT OUR SIZE, TOO.

DOGGED IF IT'S NOT HEADING IN HERE!

I BET HE'S GOING TO LAND!

WAAL, SNUFFY— I FLUNG TH' SPERRIT BEHINT BARS.

Scouts Get Ready For Camping Trips, Receiving Awards

Area scouts were busy in their regular sessions Monday night preparing for camping trips and looking forward to receiving awards.

Troop 4, First Methodist church, conducted a swimming party at Kirkwood with seven scouts present. Discussion was held concerning a campfire meeting and award night which will be staged next Monday at Sunnybrook. At that time, the awards earned by the troop at Camp Delmont the first week in July will be presented.

Gene Shellenberger, assistant scoutmaster in charge of the swimmers, announced that award night would be held in their church rooms in the event of rain.

Troop 5, of Zion's Reformed church, held its meeting in the form of a baseball game among themselves on Eighth street. Scoutmaster Harry Bernhardt was in charge.

Sixteen members of Troop 9 met in the Orioles Forrester hall at King and Charlotte streets at which time tests were passed in first class signaling and first aid. A new assistant scoutmaster, John Reece, was present.

The meeting was followed by a game period under the direction of Joseph Gottshall. Fifteen of the boys returned Sunday from Camp Delmont, and will be looking forward to their earned awards to be given them August 18 at Sunnybrook. Leonard Donnover, scoutmaster, led the activities.

Preparing for a sojourn at Camp Delmont the second week in August last night was Troop 7, Seales Methodist church. They met at the troop's Camp Lloyd, one mile from Harmonyville, and spent their time in practicing fire building with flint and sticks, semaphore signaling, lemon juice messages, lighting fires with one match and trying eggs on a flat rock.

Scoutmaster Raymond Stichter gave the boys a demonstration on descending a cliff rope, then retrieving the rope. Seven scouts, two leaders, and one committeeman, Wilmer Meyer, were present for the session.

Eleven scouts and three leaders attended a short meeting of Troop 18, St. James Lutheran church, in the church rooms.

Plans were made for participation in the award night program at Sunnybrook with Troop 4 and Gliberville Troop 1.

Awards due the members from their Camp Delmont showing will be handed out then.

Following the session, the troop played baseball with members of Troop 10, which is not meeting currently because no replacement has yet been found for their former scoutmaster.

Stowe Troop 1 held a swim-hike Monday night at the dam constructed by the troop along Manawary creek. The 17 members attending utilized the "buddy system" pairing off so as to prevent accidents. Paul Miller and Harold Rano, leaders, were in charge.

Senator Taft Satisfied With Congress Program

CINCINNATI, July 29 (AP)—U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft returned to Cincinnati today from Washington "tired but pretty well satisfied."

"All in all we did pretty well," he told newsmen. "We got everything through as we had planned and everything came out satisfactorily in the end."

Shot to Death

A bride of three months, Mrs. Laura Katherine Brown (above), 20, was found shot to death in her Samburgville, Ga., home. Fingerprints on a window sill and strands of hair caught in a wrist watch of the victim provided the only clues for the police.

Publishers Extend Safety Campaign

LEBANON, July 29 (AP)—Newspaper publishers of central and eastern Pennsylvania discussed plans at a regional conference today to continue their highway safety campaign and to co-operate with the State department of commerce in observance of Pennsylvania week, Oct. 13-18.

Henry L. Whider, co-publisher of the Lebanon News-Times presided at the conference which was arranged by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers association. Similar regional conferences have been held during the Summer in other parts of the State.

William N. Hardy, PNPA manager, reported the association's membership has reached a new high of 267 daily and weekly newspapers.

The publishers also discussed plans for observance of national newspaper week, Oct. 1-8, and the PNPA's annual convention at Harrisburg, Oct. 10-11.

$20,000 in Jewelry Stolen From Actress

LONDON, July 29 (AP)—Margot Grahame, British movie star, reported to police today that jewelry valued at $20,000 was stolen from her sixth floor apartment in the Hyde Park district last night.

Miss Grahame said that after returning from a dinner party she left the jewels scattered on a dressing table. Police authorities said the thief apparently entered the apartment with a key and took the valuables without disturbing the actress.

The largest single occupation group in America outside of farming is truck drivers—there are 4,750,000 of them.

Reds, Yugoslavia Reach Accord on Trade, Credit Pact

MOSCOW, July 29 (AP)—The Russians announced today that trade and credit arrangements had been concluded with Yugoslavia.

One accord provided Russian credit for Yugoslavia's purchase within the Soviet Union of equipment for metal, oil, chemical and timber industries.

In addition, a two-year agreement was signed for an exchange of goods under which Yugoslavia would send Russia lead, zinc, pyrites, tobacco, hemp, plywood and farm products. Russia would send Yugoslavia cotton, paper, cellulose, oil products, coal, coke, metals, automobiles, tractors, fertilizers and other equipment.

(Amounts of credits and trade volume were not specified).

The pattern of Soviet economic relations with eastern European nations has been developing rapidly during the past few weeks. An extensive trade agreement was signed with Czechoslovakia, economic help was extended to Albania, and a trade agreement was reached with Hungary. A Polish trade group was in Moscow working out other agreements.

(All the European countries within the Soviet orbit rejected participation in the Marshall proposal for U.S. financial aid in economic reconstruction of Europe.)

The pattern has been of increasing trade between Russia and the eastern European countries and the advancement of comparatively small credits by the Soviet Union to certain of these countries when it was necessary to assist in the fulfillment of their economic plans.

Eastern European nations in the Soviet sphere, meanwhile, have been taking steps to increase trade between themselves and develop mutual economic relations. The program has been gaining momentum.

Offerings by the Soviet Union to Great Britain of large quantities of grain, timber and fish during unsuccessful trade talks in Moscow indicated also that Russia was willing to do large scale business with England and other western countries if she could get her own terms.

There are approximately 35,000 dealers who sell and service the products of the American automotive industry.

More Property Owners Receive Weed Notices

Borough Manager Dow I. Sears continued yesterday to issue several notices for removal of weeds. This daily practice, he said, is resulting in improved conditions, especially on streets and alleys in the outlying districts.

There are 307,375 retail establishments in the American automotive field and 79,744 allied service firms.
